Jon Sherwood – Artist Bio

Jon Sherwood is a singer, songwriter, and multi-genre performer whose music blends heartfelt storytelling with the energy of decades on stage. Born and raised in McMinnville, Oregon, Jon grew up surrounded by music—his four grandparents were professional musicians—and started his first band, the Elastic Waste Band, at just 16.

Influenced by legends from Pete Seeger, Bob Dylan, and Johnny Cash to Dolly Parton, Glen Campbell, and Chris Stapleton, Jon's repertoire spans country, folk, rock, gospel, and jazz. Over the years, he has performed everywhere from The Vatican to the Mt. Hood Jazz Festival, opened for CCM artist Starfield, and played countless bars, weddings, wineries, festivals, and corporate events.

A lifelong educator, Jon has taught public school music since 1999 and given private voice and guitar lessons for over 30 years. He also founded The Genuine Theatre Company, creating stage productions for adults with intellectual disabilities.

Jon's musical journey has brought him face-to-face with icons like Bono, Chuck Berry, Diane Schuur, Charlie Daniels, and Ted Nugent, adding rich stories to his already colorful career.

Today, Jon performs a mix of original songs and crowd favorites—country classics, timeless rock, and soulful ballads. His upcoming EP, The Right Time, features Make It Right, Will You Still Love Me?, and Since You're Gone.
